16 (Currently Amended) A process for producing a three-dimensional pattern, which comprises the steps of :

preparing plural kinds of liquid compositions each comprising a block polymer having a polyalkenyl ether repeating unit structure and a liquid medium; ejecting a first of the plural kinds of liquid compositions to apply the liquid composition to a recording medium; imparting a thermal stimulus to the applied liquid composition to ~~modify the block polymer~~ increase the viscosity of the liquid composition, thereby forming a three-dimensional basic pattern; ~~and~~ imparting an electromagnetic wave stimulus to the formed three-dimensional basic pattern to form a pattern; and ejecting a second of the plural kinds of liquid compositions which has a different color than ~~differs from~~ the first liquid composition to apply the liquid composition onto the pattern.

17. (Cancelled).
